Unlocking Potential

Dear Colleague,

I have recently been contacted by representatives of the Institute for the Advanced Studies of Health (IASH) outlining some very exciting and important developments in our field.

A visionary plan was presented at the 2006 IASH Conference, September 29, 2006 to develop a research project leading to professional recognition of NLP. The "NLP Research and Recognition Project" was created.

The outcomes of this project are inline with the outcomes and values of UKCPD and so we wholeheartedly support this endeavour, by Fund Raising, Project Promotion and Open Discussions at our Peer Review meetings. We have also added a page to promote this project on our website.

This is an extremely exciting opportunity for all of us in the NLP community to add value to our profession and I personally urge all our members and our regular News Letter readers to take some time to visit the website and register your interest. Having spent the past 14 years involved with NLP I know what power its techniques and tools have to empower people and to make a lasting positive difference in people's lives.

Given the current situation in the world stage today, the successful outcome of this project would open doors of opportunity for not just those of us teaching and using NLP but for the wider world. The advantages of NLP in just the area of communication would be a major step forward for those charged with brining different peoples together.

Once again, I urge you to visit the website:

And register your interest / support, this is a great time in our profession and I know that the success of this project will be a key moment in the history of the development of our profession.

Kind regards

Tony Nutley
